

Song of Life

Song of Life

In an old city there is a short and shy girl, named Dainy. She loves to dance to the sounds created with everything her friends Camellia and Irina find. One day she wanted to walk in the forest with Camellia and Irina, but they were afraid, so Dainy decided to go alone. Inside the forest ,she heard a strange sound and went in its direction. There, she saw a little triangle piece emitting a beautiful melody. She picked the triangle up, and a robot which was inside it woke up and ran to a cavern near there. Pretty curious, Dainy entered the cavern and saw a lot of technological devices. She loved a little black speaker because it had some adorable melodies to her choreography. Rapidly, she took this speaker and ran back to the village, to show it to her friends. Camellia learned how to control it very quickly.

Irina, then, had a great idea: make a presentation for people, dancing and using the incredible speaker. Camellia, on the other hand, didn't approve the plan and tried to convince Dainy to disagree about it, but Dainy loved it and started to practice her steps at that very moment. So Camellia had no choice and was forced to dance with the two others girls. They chose beautiful clothes with brilliant jewels. Irina was wearing a red dress with diamond, and pretty high heels, Camellia was wearing a white skirt, a pink top with brilliant jade, and a nice pair of black sneakers; and Dainy was wearing a fabulous black blouse with a big pearl, a nice black skirt, a cute scarf, and amazing black sneakers. They went to a beautiful park to start to dance, hoping to draw people's attention. But there, the girls were very embarrassed, so they didn't get to make the presentation.

People noticed this and tried to encourage the three girls, and little by little Dainy got up the courage to start the dance. Camellia and Irina, then, saw their friend's initiative and tried to follow her steps. After only 10 minutes, the park was crowded, with notably admired people watching the spectacular presentation. In the end, a music producer asked the girls to join his big and famous company, named The New Imperial Style. The girls didn't even think about it and accepted the great offer at the same moment. He took them to his company to prepare a presentation for a real show. And after their first show, Dainy and her friends were already big success. The internet was full of videos and photos about it, and people were expecting a big tour around the world, so everyone would be able to know the girls in person, and they could be even successful.

Unfortunately, among many comments in a post on the Internet, a hater started to attack the girls. He typed that Dainy's dance was horrible, and she no had no sense of leadership for a group. This affected Dainy, who got hurt and didn't want to dance in the show on Thursday. Camellia tried talk with her friend, but she didn't listen to her and ran outside the hotel room where they stay when they don't have shows to put on. Dainy walked along the streets for hours, and Irina and Camellia got worried because they know their friend is a highly sensitive person. The two friends then bought Dainy's favorite food for a pajama party to try make the girl feel better and prepare her to cope with other haters on the next concerts, and ignore them.

After walking a good part of the city, Dainy sat down in a large staircase across from a large and splendid beach, where there was a little girl, who saw Dainy and ran towards her. This little girl said that she was a big fan of the group and she loved Dainy so much, that she would like to be like her when she grew up and dance for the world, showing her beautiful dance performances and inspiring new aspirants to start dancing too. Dainy, then, sensed some positive energy and thought about going back home to show Camellia and Irina her new ideas for the choreography. Back home she saw the surprise the girls prepared for her and she enjoyed it a lot. The three girls ate and talked all night about the shows they would give. And one year later, they put on the last show on their biggest Dance World Tour, with a surprise for all fans with new beautiful moves in their choreography.