

Sem título

His mother saw the rebellion, saw his son dying in front of the entire city and decided to call her girlfriend, his daughter and Jannie's son to protest against all that. They went to the city hall and the mayor's room and questioned why Jason died and he did not know how to answer, and asked "and who are you?". Taylor replied: "I am his mother and I must also die because I do not like men, and this is my wife" as she pointed to Jannie. The mayor, not knowing what to do, got a revolver that he had on his table and pointed to Taylor, but Jannie's son was faster and was already armed, then he killed the mayor. And after that they created the law GB that protects any person independent of the gender and as the mayor was dead, they decided to create a statue in honor of her son Jason.

His mother saw the rebellion, saw his son dying in front of the entire city and decided to call her girlfriend, his daughter and Jannie's son to protest against all that. They went to the city hall and the mayor's room and questioned why Jason died and he did not know how to answer, and asked "and who are you?". Taylor replied: "I am his mother and I must also die because I do not like men, and this is my wife" as she pointed to Jannie. The mayor, not knowing what to do, got a revolver that he had on his table and pointed to Taylor, but Jannie's son was faster and was already armed, then he killed the mayor. And after that they created the law GB that protects any person independent of the gender and as the mayor was dead, they decided to create a statue in honor of her son Jason.

His mother saw the rebellion, saw his son dying in front of the entire city and decided to call her girlfriend, his daughter and Jannie's son to protest against all that. They went to the city hall and the mayor's room and questioned why Jason died and he did not know how to answer, and asked "and who are you?". Taylor replied: "I am his mother and I must also die because I do not like men, and this is my wife" as she pointed to Jannie. The mayor, not knowing what to do, got a revolver that he had on his table and pointed to Taylor, but Jannie's son was faster and was already armed, then he killed the mayor. And after that they created the law GB that protects any person independent of the gender and as the mayor was dead, they decided to create a statue in honor of her son Jason.

