

PARADISE

Once upon a time, a beautiful girl named Nalim. She lives in Canada, is 15 years old, and is the daughter of wealthy parents and entrepreneurs. Her dream is to work with photos and things of beauty. She is an intelligent, beautiful, educated, but very shy girl. Her parents, because they are too busy, do not give her much attention. However, she knows that in spite of everything they love her very much and only want her good. One day when she was back from school, she was moving her cell phone and she saw a very interesting advertisement, it was a proposal to make a photo album for a very reasonable price, she went down the stairs of her beautiful house running to ask permission from her parents. After learning more about the subject, they talked to Nalim, they thought it through and they let her make the album... The next day, she had left the house to take the pictures, she was nervous because being shy could end up disturbing her performance and her spontaneity in the photos, she tried to stay calm and relax; Positive thinking was the best thing to do. Her parents could not go with her, because as always, they were committed. She was not sad because she knew they were an important family business. He said goodbye to his parents and went to take the pictures. The place was very far. With that, she asked for a taxi and went there alone... In the middle of the road, she realized that the road where she was a bit strange, she knew that the photo studio was in the downtown, and where she was there did not seem to have much movement. He asked the driver if the address was the same, he showed it to her and realized he was wrong. If she had checked the address before, she would not have gotten lost. The taxi driver decided to close the route because it would take too long to arrive, he should not have done so, because Nalim was a minor he left Nalim in the middle of the road alone, she began to panic and cry. He tried to call his parents, but the cell phone had unloaded. The road was dangerous so she decided to go to the forest next door to see if anyone was there; she walked for miles and could not find anyone there at the time, it was late and her despair only increased. Nalim took his coat, held it close to a tree, and fell asleep there. The next morning, she decided to walk a little way through the forest to see if she did not find anything, she saw a beautiful lake and she had nothing to do, she decided to go to him. The lake was lovely, it was so crystalline that you could see what it had in the depths, like shells, fish, corals, algae, pearls, and many more things that are beautiful. As she watched, Nalim noticed that there was something glittered down there, she thought the lake was not so deep, and so she decided to dive and try to catch this object so bright. She took off her clothes since there was no one else around. She rested her toes in the water to see if it was very icy, but it was warm. He took a good swim, went downstairs, and managed to catch this object. He went up to the lakeshore to see what it was... It was a beautiful mirror, gold with crystals, so beautiful and charming. For he went out of the lake, went out, put on his clothes, and sat down there. As he watched, he noticed that there was something there, heard a beautiful voice coming out of there, began to observe better, with that became a little dizzy, and hypnotized, until he passed out. A while later she woke up, still a little dizzy. He looked around and saw that there was something different; rose saw a lovely place, full of magic, animals, candy, and everything she loves most! Just to see here already jumped with joy, and a part of his sadness was in gone. She had several arrows scattered around, indicating places for her to go, such as candy store, princess castle, rabbit hole, enchanted bridge, and more. The name that most caught her attention was the castle of the princesses; she thought she could find someone there who could help her. With that, she followed the arrows that led her there. Upon arriving, he saw a huge crystal castle with beautiful flowers, water fountains, cute animals ... The castle portal opened with beautiful princesses to greet her. Nalim was still a little confused, but the princesses calmed her down and said they had explained everything. They invited her to have a coffee, Nalim sat down at the table and chose to have tea, when she took it she felt dizzy and fainted again. When she woke up, she was in her room, and it was just a dream. As she was very nervous about the photo shoot, she dreamed that everything would be wrong, but the dream indicated that even though things do go wrong at times, in the end, everything is fine. She wishes she were gone to the forest in real life.
