Most diets are good sold, one has many vitamins and other less, but all feed your dog and you can complete them with other things, such as those cited above. But the best diets, even not being premium, are those that do not have dye. Note that all, all the same, super premium diets, has no dye.

Citrus fruits are not good to give tbm, do not give too often, all food given to the dog that is not dry and hard helps accumulate tartar on the teeth, so dry food is very important.

The characteristics of a Poodle, according to the official, the head must be in proportion to the body, developed nose, eyes fiery with expression. Almond shape. In black or dark brown. In exemplary brown eyes can be dark amber. The ears are long a Poodle, pending shutters along the face, inserted in the extension of a line drawn from the top of the nose, flat, widening after insertion and rounded at the ends, covered with wavy hair and very long.

An interview with a woman in which has a poodle:

Why have and who should not have?:

1) Owner particular Maria Lucia Cardim Ortiz, SP: Why have? and they are loving companions rejoice our lives, are playful and frisky. Who should not have? those who prefer dogs not seek attention, small child (especially Toy, which is more fragile and delicate and who can not take care of the coat.

2) Creative professional Marilena Cappobianco Gibbon: Why have? because they are sociable with people and other dogs, are easy to hold and carry. Who should not have? those who want to create a hassle-free race on the coat, who has no time to give attention to the dog, who has small children (especially in the case of the toy).

3) Vet Rocio Nadal, SP: Why have? to be long-lived (there poodles that can reach 20 years), because most health ailments can be avoided with the right management. Who should not have? who do not have time to take care of the coat (the lack of care can cause serious skin problems), who have small children.

4) Founder and president of a North American center rescue poodles,

The Beagle is a breed widely spoken today, but poorly known. We often hear derogatory comments about him, even by veterinarians and cinófilos. It is a mistake to characterize behavior degenerated as the breed standard. Anyone who has had the fortunate opportunity to live with a Beagle "normal", you know that this breed has a very stable temperament. Always cheerful (this does not mean agitated or excited), always good about life. Never heard of a beagle that has bitten a child.

The feeding of an infant up to 3 months is given 4x daily. Of 4-6 months, 3x daily. 6 months to 1 year: 2 x day, and from 1 year, 1x daily. The amount will always be according to the size of the dog's head. Based on the size of the head or by weighing it.

The diet should be for puppies until he completes 1 year. A dog reaches adulthood at 1 year and 6 meses.

The price of a Beagle can reach 300-1200
