

Dogs

Por: Isabela Ramos e Sabrina de Sá

digite aqui

Dachshund mini

The Dachshund are courageous dog, friendly and jealous. they have a great ability to hunt large underground. The dachshund is recognized as one of the most useful for hunting breeds. Not only to get into holes, the Dachshund is an excellent working dog, mum has an instinct for improved hunting when hunting and has an instinct for improved hunting. Ele already so famous that was founded a club of the breed. It is described as hunter rings, fairly accurate sense of smell, which allows you to easily follow leads, which makes it effective in raids to small prey.

Appearance:

The Dachshund has a proud aspect of attitude, an expression of caring dog and despite the short legs, it is very agile.

Temperment:

It is a dog friendly by nature, breeders say he is not nervous nor aggressive behavior is balanced. As a working dog is passionate and persevering.

stray dog

The term mutt derives from the fact that many of these animals, when abandoned, they are commonly seen walking the streets hungry turning waste cans in search of some food.

Generally considered mongrel dogs are mestizos, descendants of different races. One of the characteristics of this breed is each litter has on average six to eight pups. They are easy to reproduce. Allow many males females. Sometimes, a brood

One of the characteristics of this breed is each litter has on average six to eight pups. They are easy to reproduce. Allow many males females. Sometimes, a brood of children have several fathers.

The Brazilian mutt is a dog unattended, with great intelligence and enormous capacity for conformation. Their shape and size are average. His coat is short and color adjusted to environmental conditions, ranging from black to light beige. Run, swim, hide and know all have keen senses and quite balanced.

The dogs of this breed tolerate and resist diseases alone and faces adverse environmental conditions where other dogs would have no chance of survival, whether in the woods, either in rural or in urban centers.

For all the dogs:

We can find dogs around the world and no matter what your favorite breed all breeds are very affectionate, friendly and mostly very companion.

We chose the race and stray dogs Dachshound as are the types of dogs that have more contact.