

talking about dogs

Por: Danilo de Paula Navais 7 H

Chow Chow

This splendid race, known as Chinese spitz in some countries, is widespread throughout the world.

The noble and dashing chow chow, its beauty and its indisputable coats lush, natural color inevitably provoke the admiration of all.

The chow chow is very versatile and is used in many functions successfully. It's a brave guardian and defender of the home guard boats is great, it's great hunter of wild prey, and a tireless dog traction.

The chow chow dog is a balanced, leonine in appearance, of proud carriage, dignified, loyal but reserved. It umcachorro agile, compact, short and harmonious whole.

The chow chow has a big nose and black, his eyes are dark and small, preferably almond shaped.

The ears are the chow chow, small, thick and well separated. His chest is broad and deep, its back is short, straight, strong and tail implanted high, carried well folded, resting on the rump.

The coat chow chow is abundant, thick, smooth straight, a little hard to the touch, with undercoat soft and woolly. According to the breed standard, the short-haired variety, with the exception of the coat, is identical.

The minimum height for the breed chow chow is about 45 cm, however the hallmark of copy should be the harmony of the whole.

digite aqui

Bullmastiff

In order to get everything you could want from a watchdog, British creators decided to add some skills mastiff characteristics of other large breeds.

The new breed, obtained probably crossing the bulldog mastiff, was officially recognized in 1924.

The bullmastiff is an excellent guard dog, appreciated worldwide. At the same time, is a very docile breed with familiares and with children, demonstrates fidelity and balance.

The temper the bullmastiff is a mixture of joy, earnestness, activity, vigilance and resistance.

The muzzle is short bullmastiff, the jaw is wide, preferably with Pincer bite. However, there may be a slight under.

The eyes are dark or hazel, of medium size. The coat of the bullmastiff is short and hard, lying close to the body.

The breed has a typical black mask, as well as darker shades near the eyes, which are outlined in black. Any shade of brindle, fawn or red is allowed to race.

The bullmastiff height ranges from 63.5 to 68.5 cm for males, and between 61 and 66 cm for females, always measured the height at the withers. The weight of the breed ranges from 50 to 59 kg for males while females must weight between 41 and 50 kg.

Airedale Terrier

Of British origin, sociable and very elegant, the airedale is the largest of the terriers.

With a smell apuradíssimo, the airedale terrier was developed to hunt coypu within his plays, which were located along the riverbanks.

The breed has a balanced character, confident, intelligent, alert, courageous, but never aggressive.

The Airedale Terrier is a medium sized, active, quick, muscular, agile movement and precise.

The coat of the Airedale terrier is hard, dense and wireframe. The undercoat is oily, great for hunting in the water because their fur is almost waterproof and very resistant to cold.

The upper torso is black or gray, as well as the top of the neck and the top surface of the tail. All other body parts are brown.

The height of the male specimen of the breed Airedale Terrier ranges from 58.5 to 61cm, always measured the height at the withers. The females measure from 50 to 58.5 cm. The weight is on average 20 kg.

digite aqui