Os Pastores Alemães

Remarkable in his unswerving loyalty. Faithful and true to the last beat of his heart. Never idle. Always on the move. Kind, but not a sycophant.

The German Shepherd dog is not a fashion. For more than a century is a race in a constant process and genetic improvement, worldwide.

It is one of the few, if not only, as it continually invests in controlling lame semural dysplasia and elbow as well as in controlling temper. The existing division in breeding and dogs that created the dichotomy of structure and dogs and work today is not as tight.

There is a need to create beautiful dogs, robust, strong, with less dysplasia and temperament

The Schnauzer medium has its origins extremely ancient and little-known breeds probably already extinct. They pulled carriages, played herds, accompanied the officers' horses and hunting rodents entering the stables. And sources have miniature crosses with small dogs, probably as kind breeds Poodle, and German wirehaired of Pincher. In general, three types of Schnauzer dogs are wonderful, active, balanced, full of energy and are always on alert, and make great pets. The Miniature Schnauzer is the most popular among them.

There are currently three types of Schnauzer, Giant (between 60 and 70 cm), the standard or medium (between 45 and 50 cm) and miniature (30 to 35 cm). Its name derives from the German word Schnauze, which means "muzzle". His nose is actually a peculiar feature, especially for having this long mustache elegant, charming, and well-known.
