

Havanese

The Havanese dog breed is a bichon type. The Havanese dog is the national dog of Cuba. This breed was developed from the now extinct breed, Blanquito de la Habana that came from another now extinct breed, Bichon Tenerife. It is a small and sturdy breed that comes in all colors. The Havanese dog is considered the ideal family pet and a good companion dog.

The Havanese dog works also. He works as therapy dogs, assistance dogs, signal dogs, performing dogs, tracking dogs, mold and termite detectors. This dog also does a variety of sports such as flyball, dog agility and ect.

Boxer

Bred in Germany, the Boxer is a breed of stocky, medium-sized, short-haired dog. The coat is smooth and tight-fitting; colors are fawn or brindled, with or without white markings, which may cover the entire body. Boxers are brachycephalic (they have broad, short skulls), and have a square muzzle, mandibular prognathism (an underbite), very strong jaws and a powerful bite ideal for hanging on to large prey. The Boxer was bred from the Old English Bulldog and the now extinct Bullenbeisser and is part of the Molosser group. The Boxer is a working dog also.

Dashsund

The standard size dachshund was bred to scent, chase, and flush out badgers and other burrow-dwelling animals, while the miniature dachshund was developed to hunt smaller prey such as rabbits. In the American West they have also been used to hunt prairie dogs. According to the AKC, the dachshund continues to remain one of the top 10 dog breeds in the United States.

Chow-Chow

Chow-chow is a breed of dog originating in Mongolia, where it is called Songshi Quan, which literally means "lion dog-blistered." Ancient breed and origin unknown, it is assumed that his image has already been used for decorating objects in the Han Dynasty, 206 BC and during the Tang Dynasty, one of the emperors had in his kennel 2500 copies of this canine. Among the speculations of historians are crosses between mastiffs and SPITZS. Have your blue tongue is explained by a legend - it is believed that when God was painting the sky blue, dropped drops on the floor which were licked by chow-chow who was watching

Shar-Pei is a breed of dog originating from China. Created to be initially a farm dog of multiple functions, is considered efficient, since the characteristics sought for this were achieved: it is quiet enough to be a guard animal, for example. Considered also pet has not lost its features work as efficiently as a sheepdog and screening. Physically, the shar-pei has a scowl and the black pigmented mouth, which, according to the Chinese, frighten away evil spirits and grandeur of his position would show that never were challenged.

Fonte:

Wikipedia.com