northern Japan, the Akita Inu is a dog of strength and bravery. This dog has a large, dark eyes and erect ears pointed forward. The tail is curled over the back, and the hair is thin, not too long and can be found in colors salt-and-pepper, red pepper, black pepper, brindle, white and spotted. This dog is an excellent companion and guardian, because besides warrior, is a docile animal, intelligent, affectionate and sincere.

And loves to play with children. Accompanying family and protects whenever necessary. Observer, who is instinctively recognizes its owner or the owner's friend. Similarly, recognizes the enemy in a few seconds.

The Akita is not a dog friendly with other dogs of the same sex and of the same size, because of his background in cockfights. Therefore, it is best to avoid creating more of an Akita indoors.

The sense of competition of this race is so great that sometimes it is necessary to separate the puppies from the same litter to fight. Already with dogs of other breeds and opposite sex, whether raised together from small, there are no problems in the relationship.

Bedlington Terrier went on to win many. This is undoubtedly one of the most exotic dogs that exist. Its picturesque appearance, which resembles a sheep too, has attracted the attention and interest of people around the world. So much so that apart from England, the country of origin of the breed, it is now established in many others like the Netherlands, Scandinavia, USA and Argentina. In Brazil, the Bedlington is still quite rare and a dog, so here are a few examples. Graceful and with the appearance of fragile, this dog can easily mislead the unwary. In reality, behind this guy sheep gentle temperament is hidden a brave and decided that in the past helped to make race an accomplished hunter enviable combativeness.

Appeared in the region of Northumberland, England, more precisely in the county miner Bedlington, from where it derives its name. There, he was used as a hunting dog, specifically to exterminate the rats mines. Thanks to very strong teeth, the sense of smell, fast reflexes and great courage of the race, she played this task with the greatest perfection. There is also a legend, miners and wrestlers bet large amounts of time in between fights Bedlingtons of their creations. This dog, once entering a fight, was the most worthy fighter, because it remained until death.

Over time, through successive matings, the bree chooses its owner, a dog is loyal and obedient but firm temperament and a little stubborn. Affable, but suspicious of strangers.

Probably originating from Tibet, the Pekingese was for centuries the favorite animal of the Chinese emperors, which prevented their export. Only at the end of the last century, in the war of boxers, Europeans discovered it after the looting of the imperial palace. Today there are two varieties of Beijingers, one with just under 4 kg and the other with up to 8 kg. The head is large in relation to the body. The skull flat between the ears, extends between the eyes. The nose looks upturned eyes up. Displays the muzzle wrinkled and very short, and the ears, heart-shaped, are fallen and feathered. The eyes are round and dark skipped.

Has the heavy body and short limbs, arched, with the hairy ends. The tail curled over its back is furnished with feathering. His long hair can be red, blondish, sandy-colored or black.

The aesthetic qualities of the Pekingese alia certain degree of intelligence. Is attentive, playful and affectionate. Indoors intrudes at all. We must, however, be careful with your eyes, which are fragile, many of whom are blind.
