

Hounds

Por: Thiago Rafael Miguel

PINSCHER

- they are a very brave and active
- it is a strong dog they have little temper but they are very faithful and protective to their owners.
- If not well trained and cared it can be a very annoying dog these dogs can be very inconvenient
- they have a lot of energy and needy and need a good nutrition.

ENGLISH COCKER SPANIEL

- These are the neediest dogs you will ever meet.
- These dogs were used to kill chicken, thats were the name comes from (cocker)
- They are very intelligent and affectionate if trained

The Dogs

-The Dogs are animals doces.Mas if badly trained and educated can become aggressive and are silmentos.The Dogs are smart and fast reasoning. Therefore are as uzados by police and investigators to casos.Tambem can become great friends and protectors.

Taking into account the studies that link the wolf as the dog's predecessor, one can draw similarities and differences between these two species. The oldest discovered skeletons of dogs dating back some 30 000 years after the appearance of Homo sapiens, when exhumed in association with the rest of human bones. To the

The Basset Hound

The Basset Hound is a breed of dog calm when adult. Unlike his appearance, he is a dog with a strong personality and is very impulsive and usually does not accept commands. When puppy is very busy and playful, but over time his behavior stabilizes and becomes calm and sleepy. They are extremely loyal, sensitive, loving and jealous.

They are very friendly around strangers and always willing to make new friends. So too are indicated as pets for families with children, but should take into account its high weight, which can cause accidents, he lives well with other pets. Why live so well together, it is recommended that a basset has the company of another pet, if it gets too long without the presence of their owners. This company helps you keep him out of trouble. That is, they hate to be alone, barking and howling when that happens. How to eat a lot and are less agitated than most breeds, they are always willing to perform exercises such as walking or playing with their owners. Also very fond of activities where they can exercise their powerful scent.

The breed has a strong hunting instinct and start a chase to birds, birds and almost anything that moves, including odors, whenever possible. Therefore it is recommended to always leave them attached